

To Fight and Win Our Nation's Wars

America's Army is organized, trained, and equipped to succeed across the full spectrum of military operations—providing the nation a full range of capabilities for a range of threats and challenges. The primary mission remains, as it always has been, to fight and win our nation's wars—some of which are increasingly ambiguous and difficult to define. The pattern of international conflict in the post-Cold War environment requires military forces that can do more than just fight. Our experiences over the past six years prove that the nation's military might is also defined by our ability to deter, reassure, and support.

Through all this welter of change and development, your mission remains fixed, determined, inviolable—it is to win our wars.

GEN Douglas McArthur
May 12, 1962
